U. S. RENEWS DEMAND
FOR JENKINS' RELEASENOTE TO MEXICO IS VIRTUALLY
AN ULTIMATUM

Official Washington Brewing Storm of Protest Against Administration's Handling of Case.

Washington, Dec. 1.—That the charges against Consular Agent Wm. O. Jenkins are unfounded, in the opinion of the American government is stated in the new note to Mexico, and therefore the demand for the immediate release of Jenkins must be renewed.

The note which was signed by Secretary of State Lansing, does not constitute an ultimatum, but is the next thing to it.

It points out that Jenkins is being persecuted while his kidnappers are at large in the second largest city in Mexico, and that no attempt is being made to catch them.

The cabinet meets tomorrow and at that time Secretary of State Lansing will lay the entire Mexican situation down and will ask for the formulation of a definite policy, in the event that the Mexican government fails to meet the demands of the United States.

The only policy which seems open to this nation is that of intervention, but the more hopeful and optimistic believe that the Carranza government will accede as soon as it is plain that the United States means business.

A storm of disapproval over the administration's handling of the Mexican crisis was brewing at the capital today. With congress gathering for the first regular session of the sixtieth congress, it was evident that much of this week would be given over to the discussion of the affairs with Mexico and there were possibilities of some sort of congressional action.

Mexico, Dec. 1.—Four Mexicans probably will be charged with treason in connection with the case of W. O. Jenkins, the U. S. consular agent at Puebla, who is now in jail, according to a statement made by minister of finance Luis Cabrera, a brother of the governor of Puebla.

Minister Cabrera declared that the pueblo authorities had already gathered enough evidence to indicate that Mr. Jenkins had voluntarily consented to be kidnapped by Mexican rebels. The investigation, according to the finance minister, has implicated four Mexicans, among them Evaristo M. M. attorney for Mr. Jenkins.

Cabrera claims that Frederico Cordoba, rebel chieftain who abducted the consular agent, had been friendly with Jenkins before the Puebla revolt.

RECESS SESSION OF LEGISLATURE
OPENS TODAY; LEADERS DECLARE
BUSINESS WILL BE OVER IN MONTH

Columbus, O., Dec. 1.—That the recess session of the state legislature, which starts at 5 p. m. today, will not last over a month, was the opinion of legislative leaders.

Other prognosticators, who have been close students of legislative activities for years, however, believe final adjournment will not be reached short of a couple of months.

The solons have a mighty big program to tackle.

The legislature will be asked to pass a number of measures besides taxation laws, and an emergency prohibition enforcement act to replace the Crabbe act, which was defeated at the November elections.

Weeks are expected to elapse before the proposed income tax and school relief bills are disposed of by the solons.

It is planned to enact the proposed graduated auto and truck license tax measure into law in time to make it effective on Jan. 1. It is expected to raise between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000 annually for maintenance and repair of highways throughout Ohio. Half of this revenue would go to the local political subdivisions of the state. The present auto license law provides an annual revenue of $2,500,000.

Legislators claim the income tax school relief and graduated auto tax measures will be exempt from referendum because they are tax levying acts.

The joint legislative committee on administrative reorganization, of which Senator Whittemore of Akron, is chairman, is to submit recommendations relative to proposed reorganization and consolidation of various state departmental activities. The aim is to avoid duplication of work by state officials, weed out unnecessary employees and officials, and reduce the cost of operating the state government.

MAY SUCCEED SECRETARY CARTER GLASS.

GOVERNORS UNITE
IN SEEKING RELIEF
FROM COAL CRISIS

Await Reply From Attorney Palmer Urging Drastic Steps By Government.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—The governors of six midwestern coal producing states Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee, are today awaiting a reply from Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer and Director General of Railways Walker D. Hines to a telegram they spent seven hours yesterday in drafting, urging urgent and drastic steps by the government in the coal situation.

According to best information, the governors did not consider the question of the coal miners' demands or the offer of compromise by the operators, but devoted their entire time to the question of coal production to relieve the situation which they were unanimous in describing as critical.

The telegram to Director General Hines and Attorney General Palmer embody the following suggestions:

Appointment by the governor of each state of a fuel administrator to be paid by the federal government.

Equal distribution among the 48 states, regardless of where mined, of all coal mined and in stock.

Immediate establishment of uniform rules for the conservation of coal throughout the union.

M. C. Riley, secretary of the conference, left Chicago for Washington today, to back up the demand and voice the governors' desire to the federal officials until otherwise directed.

Before adjourning, the governors agreed to meet in St. Louis next Sunday to "further consider and confer upon the coal situation."

COAL FAMINE IN OHIO LOOMS BIG
WITH COLD SNAPREPORT RIOTING
WITH ONE DEAD
AT WHEELING

Cleveland, Dec. 1.—Danger of coal famine struck home in Ohio today with the first cold wave of the season showing no signs of abatement.

Regional fuel directors today took stock of the situation. They found that Ohio is in better shape with regard to coal than many of the middle west states.

Practically all public institutions of the state are fairly well supplied and there is no immediate prospect that schools will be forced to close on account of coal shortage.

Manufacturers throughout the state are already feeling the pinch and numerous small plants have closed. Larger ones have curtailed some of their operations to conserve their supply. Generally, industry receives from one to four weeks supply of coal on hand.

There were indications today that there would be a tightening of fuel distribution from now on, supplies being assigned only to industries unquestionably in the essential class and to benefit home consumers.

With these restrictions in effect, the fuel directors believe Ohio can get along for another six weeks if coal production continues at its present rate.

OVERHEATED FURNACE CAUSES FIRE WHICH
RESULTS IN $300 LOSS

Wheeling, W. Va., Dec. 1.—One man was shot and killed and three others including Sheriff W. E. Clayton, of Marshall county, were wounded, the sheriff probably fatally, in fighting between steel strikers and deputies at the gates of the National Tube's company plant in Benwood today.

Matto Brown, a striker was killed. Deputy Sheriff D. D. McArdle was slightly wounded by a bullet and John Muharnow, a striker was shot in the face. His condition is serious. Sheriff Clayton was shot in the back.

Sheriff Clayton and five of his deputies were summoned to Benwood when crowds of strikers prevented workmen from entering the mills. Stores and clubs were flying when the officers reached the scene.

Immediately rushing the mob, the officers arrested the ring leader when a shot rang out and the sheriff fell to the street. The shot was the signal for a general gun battle between the officers and the strikers. Deputy McArdle was the next to drop. After two of their number had been hit the strikers withdrew. More than 100 shots were exchanged during the fighting.

Following the battle Prosecuting Attorney Parrott sent a request to Charleston for a detachment of state troops to be stationed in Benwood.

Two weeks ago a number of employees of the Benwood plant met and voted to return to work. About 200 worked last week but they were continually being attacked. Sheriff Clayton on Saturday gave notice that all men who wished to work would be given protection this week.

134 MEN NAMED

Senator Newberry and Others Are Indicted in Election Case.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Dec. 1.—Truman H. Newberry, United States senator from Michigan, was indicted by a United States grand jury for alleged corruption, fraud and conspiracy in connection with the election by which he obtained his seat in the senate, defeating Henry Ford, his Democratic opponent. With Newberry, 133 other persons were indicted by the grand jury on the same charge. Among those named are H. A. Hopkins of St. Clair, Mich., principal legislative clerk; John S. Newberry, brother of the senator, Detroit; Paul H. King of Detroit, who was manager of the Newberry campaign committee; Allen K. Templeton of Detroit, president of the Newberry campaign committee, and Frederick Smith, Detroit, manager of the Newberry estate.

The five measures, drafted by the joint legislative taxation committee, provide for graduated auto license tax, income tax, school relief, debt limitation and additional power for placing intangible property on the tax duplicate.

Then, there are the five pending bills, favored by the Republican state advisory and central committee: By Dunsbaugh, providing compensation for occupational diseases as well as for injuries incurred in the course of employment; by Hughes, providing punishment for physicians for failure to report certain diseases; by Robinson, requiring public utilities whose rates are under direct control of the public utilities commission, to show reasonableness of rate increases before they are effective; by Drury, to abolish the state highway advisory board.

Reduced Rates.

GOVERNMENT WILL BROOK NO INTERFERENCE BY RADICALS ON COAL SITUATION; START ROUND-UP

TYPES OF MEXICAN FEDERAL TROOPS AND THEIR COMMANDER.

The report that another American had been slain by Carranza soldiers has increased the complexity of the Mexican situation, and it is expected that congress and the senate, which reconvened today (December 1), will take strong action which may bring the entire muddle to a head. In the photograph are shown types of the Carranza Federal troops and their commander, General Fabio Gonzales.

REAL TEST WITH MINERS COMES
BY END OF WEEK

Situation Today One of Waiting for Developments Which Rests in Hands of Miners.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Strict orders for drastic action against radicals interfering in the coal situation were issued by the department of justice today.

All agents of the department of justice in Kansas were ordered to proceed to Pittsburgh, Kan., to investigate the dynamiting of railroads there by radicals. The agents were ordered to make summary arrests and put out a dagger for all suspect.

The bureau of investigation issued a blanket order to all agents to "go to the limit" in rounding up radicals who are attempting to interfere in any manner with the operation of the coal mines.

Washington, Dec. 1.—The real test in the coal situation comes this week. With notices posted in most of the bituminous mines making known the government's profit of 14 per cent increase in wages, this week will determine whether the individual miners are going to accept this increase or whether they are going to stand by the union officials, remain away from their work and fight.

Dr. Garfield, fuel administrator, is confident that many of the miners will resume work this week and that coal production will be sufficiently increased to check an absolute famine.

COURT ORDERS THE
CO. COMMISSIONERS
CONSTRUCT CHANGES

Holding that the court had jurisdiction to make a decree ordering certain changes in the construction of Beaver Creek, the court of appeals in a decision just rendered in the case of J. F. Harshman, against the commissioners has ordered the contractor to let the contract for the improvements not later than March 15, so that the work may be fully completed by May 15.

The court in its decision, says while the situation is novel and we are not without some doubt, yet we believe that the court has jurisdiction to make the decree. In view of the importance of the question, it is set forth, we have decided to fix such time for compliance as will enable the defendants, if they desire, to take the case to the Supreme Court.

The commissioners refused to make the changes ordered by the court previously, on the grounds that they were impractical. They were cited for contempt for failure to comply with the order.

STEAMERS CRASH
IN SEVERE STORM

New York, Dec. 1.—An unidentified steamship was reported in collision with the American steamer Elizabeth in a storm 100 miles off the coast early today. Radiograms were sent out by the steamer, but could not be entirely deciphered because of static conditions. The steamer was believed to be enroute for Norfolk.

APPELATE COURT DECIDES IN FAVOR OF H. E. SCHMIDT IN "SIDEWALK" CASE, RULES DISCRIMINATORY LAW

On the grounds that the ordinance is not of uniform operation, and is discriminatory, the Court of Appeals has rendered a decision in favor of H. E. Schmidt in the famous "sidewalk" ordinance case.

The written decision in the sidewalk case was received here Saturday afternoon. The Appellate Court has not given its decision in the twin case, the effort to enforce the "awning" order ordinance, which law was enacted by the city commission at the same time as was the sidewalk obstruction ordinance.

Mr. Schmidt was tried and convicted in police court on charges of violating the provision of the sidewalk and awning ordinances. He took the cases to the court of common pleas where Judge Clevenger of Wilmington, rendered decisions in his favor in both cases.

The city carried both cases to the Appellate Court on error.

Appellate Judge A. J. Kunkle, of Springfield, wrote the decision in the sidewalk case affirming the decision of the court below. His opinion was concurring in by the other judges on the bench.

The decision recites

"The Court of Common Pleas reversed the judgment of the lower court upon the ground that the ordinance in question was not of uniform operation, but excepted from its provisions certain permanent obstructions, while the ordinance attempts to include within its provisions temporary obstructions.

"We are unable to see any good reason for including temporary obstructions and at the same time excluding many obstructions of a permanent nature.

"Counsel for plaintiff in error insists that the exceptions to the provisions are obstructions which have existed for such a length of time as to have acquired a lawful right in the walks. It must be observed, however, that by the terms of the exception the ordinance, no limitation is placed upon such permanent obstructions which have existed for 21 years or more.

"We are in thorough accord with the court in this regard.

BOYS BELIEVED TO BE BURGLARS AT SCHOOL

It is believed school boys are responsible for a burglary perpetrated at the Central High School building Thanksgiving night when about $25 in money was taken from the office of Superintendent C. S. Waltz.

The burglars gained an entrance by tearing out a screen on the window of the dressing room in the basement. The burglary was discovered Monday morning when school was resumed after the vacation.

when I had a chance. But the change in Everett had been more pronounced since her visit. He had treated me more as a woman, less as a child, or school girl who needed to be corrected for what she had done, as well as told what she might do.

I was often surprised as well as pleased—when he asked my opinion of something, or consulted me about his affairs. It made me very proud and happy.

I looked and felt brighter and happier than for a long time; consequently I looked younger. One day I suddenly noticed that Everett had a few gray hairs, and told him so in a shocked voice. Alice Sloane came in one evening soon afterward, and she also noticed he was beginning to turn gray, and joked him about it.

"You shouldn't allow yourself to get gray," she said, "Lots of men go to the hair parlors nowadays and have their gray hairs touched up; especially those who have such young wives."

"You think I should go, do you?" he asked in a laughing manner.

"I certainly do, for your own sake."

"They might say I was Sandra's grandfather, eh?" he rejoined. Alice laughed, but I sensed the bitterness in the speech. That was what my young friends had called us before we were married, "grandpa" and I knew he had resented it then and still hated to have anyone compare our ages.

"Indeed they will, if you allow yourself to get gray!" Alice would not look at me, so my warning glances were wasted. "Sandra doesn't look a day over 18, and you can't afford to look over 40."

"I wish I were but forty," he replied so seriously we both laughed. "Sandra isn't much over 18, you know."

"What a libel! One would think the years had stood still for me, while they were running away with Everett." I said to Alice, "I have grown old just as fast as you have."

I turned now to Everett, "thank goodness!"

"I know you always wanted to be older," he smiled at me, "I never could quite understand why. Youth is the greatest thing in the world."

"I thought love was," Alice broke in. Then: "Well, good people, I must run along and leave you to settle on this age question by yourselves. But remember, Mr. Graham, lots of men get their hair touched up nowadays," and she ran laughing mischievously from the room.

"What a nice girl Alice is. So full of fun," I remarked after she left. Everett made no answer. He seemed to be in a brown study.

The next day Everett came home late for dinner, something most unusual for him. Either he carrie in good time, or not at all. He had not telephoned, as he now invariably did, so I had waited.

"I'm terribly late, Sandra. I hope you will excuse me," he said in his courteous manner. But I noticed something strange about him; he was flurried, ill at ease! I never had seen him so before.

"Something gone wrong at the office, perhaps," I thought, as I waited for him to freshen up. He had said he wouldn't dress if I would excuse him. Usually only something quite important kept him from dressing for dinner; that night it was simply because he was late.

He was ready in a very few moments and we sat down to dinner.

His manner still puzzled me. He kept looking at me in such peculiar manner, as if he were trying to see what I was thinking. After a while, I got on my nerves and I asked:

"What's the matter, Everett? Something gone wrong at the office today?"

"No, why do you ask?"

"You act so—well—as if you—had done something; or as if something unusual had happened."

"No, there is nothing."

After dinner, he asked for music. As he leaned over the piano looking for a song he had brought home a few days before, I saw that he was no longer gray.

"You have been to a beauty parlor!" I exclaimed. Then I laughed immediately, paying no attention to his embarrassment. I knew then what had made him act so peculiar through dinner.

INDOLENCE—LAZINESS.

You notice we have hyphenated the words. That is because they are so co-related that it is six-of-ours or half a dozen of the others. The only difference is that it may be a little more polite to speak of a person as being indolent than to say he is lazy—but they mean the same thing and are equally pernicious.

If a certain duty faces us, and we are loth to take it up, but prefer to sit in idleness while the fact that we are neglecting duty haunts us, we are simply lazy, and ought to obey the promptings of conscience or take the consequences of the pricks that faithful monitor gives us.

We sometimes excuse our indolence on the plea of incapacity. We say to ourselves: "I can't do that—it is beyond my ability"—and then do not try to perform the duty. Whereas, if we had boldly tackled the job, the very fact of making the effort meant half its accomplishment. I remember once, when my house was on fire, carrying out a stove which I couldn't begin to lift the next day.

An old philosopher once said: "If you ask me which is the real sin of human nature, do you imagine I shall answer pride, or luxury or ambition or egotism? No, I shall answer indolence. Who conquers indolence conquers himself. All good principles stagnate without mental activity."

Laziness grows on people; it begins in cobwebs and ends in iron chains—until the public verdict is: "Oh he is too lazy to do anything—he even lets his wife and children earn the living." We know just such a man, and he is anathematized by too mean to live. For do not the feeblest of animals have the love instinct which impels them to care for their young.

lazy. He can't find a subject that he thinks his readers would care a straw about, and it is so much more comfortable to loll listless, until conscience pricks and says: "Wake up old man, what is it you are on the pay roll for?" Then of course, he pulls himself together and says: "Bully for conscience."

SPRING VALLEY MAN HES AT HOSPITAL

William Mott, an old and well known resident of Spring Valley, died at the McClellan Hospital at 11 o'clock Thursday of pneumonia. Mr. Mott was born in Glen Falls, N. Y., January 16, 1850. He came to Spring Valley 48 years ago, and for many years was bookkeeper for The Barrett Milling Company. He never married and made his home at the hotel in the village.

Surviving him are two sisters living in Boston, and Glen Falls, N. Y., and a half brother, Thomas A. Mott, who is superintendent of schools at Seymour, Ind. Mr. Mott came here and took charge of the funeral arrangements. The service will be held Monday at 2 o'clock at the Needel undertaking parlors this city. The body will be taken to Glen Falls, N. Y., for burial.

GEORGIA FIDDLERS HOLD ANNUAL "FIDDLE FEST"

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 29.—"If things keep on the way they are going I don't know what's going to become of the fiddling profession. Cause there ain't nothing quite so good for limberin' up a fiddler's fingers as concentrated extract of corn," said Fiddlin' John Carson, chief fiddler, at the annual fiddle fest which held the boards at the Auditorium recently. Fiddlers from the mountains, from the wire-grass region, from the hills and dales all over Georgia were there with fiddles varying from the finest sort to the cheapest grades, Wt all FAMO destroys the dandruff bacilli and stops seborrhea. Seborrhea is the cause of dandruff. Allowed to run unchecked it makes the hair die and fall out, just as pyorrhea loosens the teeth. FAMO kills the seborrhea microbe and gives the hair new gloss and lustre and promotes new hair growth. It contains no harmful alcohol and retards grayness. Two sizes—35 cents, and an extra large bottle at $1. At all toilet goods counters. From the laboratories of F. A. Thompson & Company, Manufacturing Pharmacists, Detroit, Mich.

ALFONSO VISITED "LEG SHOWS" WHILE IN ENGLAND

London, Nov. 29—King Alfonso, who came to England from Spain "for his health," according to a newspaper report, saw to it that he had a right healthy lot of entertainment.

When his score of theatrical evenings was three, each being what is known in the vernacular as "leg shows," the fact was duly chronicled by cable.

Then his wife came to town. But, in spite of that, he took on one more "Afgar," which has been attacked for its "underlying strain of baseness" and which had just been censored as regards clothlessness by the Lord Chamberlain.

Poor Alfonso! He couldn't follow the plot properly in English, so he called Mme. Delysia, the favorite wife, to his box to explain it to him.

Mrs. Sarah Croston Gives Nerv-Worth Credit for Much Better Health.

And the credit is well deserved as the following entirely new Nerv-Worth endorsement proves:

"My system was all run down. Very nervous. Could not sleep at night. Stomach hurt. No appetite, had indigestion.

"I began taking Nerv-Worth about three months ago and I feel like a new person. Doing my housework without that tired feeling and have a good appetite and good digestion. Sleep is sound. I can recommend your Nerv-Worth with god cheer.

The Roman Fare.

The Roman soldiers, who built such wonderful roads and carried weight of armor and baggage, lived on coarse brown bread and sour wine. They were temperate in diet and regular and constant in exercise. The Spanish peasant works every day and dances half the night, yet eats only black bread, onion and water lemon.

PALE CHILDREN NEED GUDÉ'S PEPTO-MANGAN

It is necessary for boys and girls to laugh, romp, play, and enjoy themselves, for it is at that stage of life that the foundation is laid for future health.

Prompt attention should be given to the child who seldom laughs, whose physical conditions prevent playing like other children, whose appetite is poor, and who tires easily.

If the insufficiency is due to poor blood, it is often the case, a simple, safe, pleasant remedy is within easy reach.

Gudé's Pepto-Mangan is just the tonic for pale, thin children. Gudé's Pepto-Mangan contains the very ingredients that increase and enrich the blood, enabling it to supply the entire body with the sorely needed vigor, strength and vitality that make happy, romping children.

For the convenience of the public Pepto-Mangan is prepared in tablet as well as liquid form. Both forms possess exactly the same medicinal properties.

When you ask the druggist for Pepto-Mangan, look for the name "Gudé's" on the package. If it is not there it is not Pepto-Mangan.

CALORIC
Original Patented Pipeless Furnace

This is the furnace which has revolutionized heating. Instead of using numerous pipes and registers, it heats the entire house through only one register. It is therefore easily installed in new or old houses, usually in one day, without interfering with your present heating arrangements.

The CALORIC heats all types of homes up to eighteen rooms, glue, churches, stores, factories, halls and other buildings. It burns coal, coke, wood, gas or kerosene, and because of special patented features, saves from 25 to 32% your fuel. The CALORIC is sold under the Monitor Iron-clad "Guarantee," which insures the purchaser thorough and economical heat.

NASAL CATARRH

Though Very Common It Is a Serious Disease—Worse at This Season.

It is an inflammation of the mucous membrane, causing a discharge, and aggravated by colds and sudden changes of weather, but depends on an impure condition of the blood. When chronic, it may develop into consumption by breaking down the delicate lung tissues and impairing the general health.

Begin treatment with Hood's Sarsaparilla at once. This medicine purifies the blood, removes the cause of the disease, and gives permanent relief. It has been entirely satisfactory to three generations.

If a cathartic is needed take Hood's Pills—they are gentle and thorough, enliven the liver, regulate the bowels.

Reap Additional Profits by Spreading Straw.

Why waste your most valuable by-product?

Every ton of straw is worth $2.00 to $5.00 per ton as fertilizer alone. Besides that, it protects your crops against winter-kill and drought—your best guarantee of big yields.

It's a soil mellower, a valuable source of humus and a reservoir of moisture. It prevents soil-blowing and "patchy" spots—holds a protecting blanket of snow on wheat.

Experimental stations and practical farmers prove that straw spread with the "Eagle" will net $5.00 to $25.00 more per acre per year.

Sales increased fourfold in last two years. This is the best proof of its merits. Let us show you what the "Eagle" will do. Call today.

PEPSINCO

PEPSINCO is the only indigestion remedy that we know—and we know lots of so called dyspepsia cures—that will almost infallibly relieve an attack of indigestion, food distress or gas. We could almost make claims that would appear impossible, so seldom does this PEPSINCO fail. But why not consider the recommendation of thousands of people who have used PEPSINCO on the basis of their belief in it. Try it yourself. We are sure that the suggestion will appeal to you—you who suffer with indigestion or stomach faults—try PEPSINCO to-day.

Ask your druggist—he sells and recommends Pepsinco.

A 1900 Cataract Washer operates on the figure 8 movement by which the water is forced through the clothes four times as often as in the ordinary washer. It is this figure 8 movement which makes the 1900 Cataract Washer the perfect washing machine.

A 1900 Cataract Washer has a movable wringer which can be swung from washer to rinse water, then to the bluing water, and then to the clothes basket. No moving of the washer! And the wringer also works electrically.

The 1900 Cataract is easy to operate. Just connect it with the electric light plug and turn on the current. Costs less than 2c an hour to operate and washes a tubful of clothes in 8 to 10 minutes.

WELL KNOWN

OHIO WOMEN

Cleveland, Ohio—"I can highly recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to women of middle age. I was in a miserable condition a year or so before I reached the climacteric. My bladder gave me so much distress and I also suffered with inflammation and displacement. I don't believe any woman could be more uncomfortable than I was when I started to take the Favorite Prescription." My improvement was so slow at first that I became impatient and wrote to the Invalids' Hotel for advice, which was given me freely, and very kindly. By following this advice I was eventually restored to a healthy condition. I am now safely through this trying time and have 'Favorite Prescription' to thank for my present good health, so do not think that I am making any mistake in advising other women who are distressed at this time to give Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a trial."—Mrs. J. W. KESLER, 2344 E. 76th St.

Conneaut, Ohio—"In my young womanhood I used to suffer severely at certain times until I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine not only cured me of this condition but it laid the foundation for a healthy womanhood. I highly recommend the 'Prescription' to all young girls who suffer with inward trouble or periodical pains and I would never hesitate in giving 'Favorite Prescription' to my own daughters if they were in need of such medicine."—Mrs. SARAH HILDEBRAND, 329 Harbor St.

Ashtabula, Ohio—"I have heard my daughters praise Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription so highly that I do not hesitate to recommend it to other women."—Mrs. CARRIE WHEPLEY, 607 Lake St.

Under the name "The New Grand," the hotel at Main and Whiteman streets now known as "The Grand," extensively remodeled, and improved will be re-opened early in the year.

E. L. Liger of Cincinnati, hotel and cafeteria man will be in charge.

A contract with Mr. Liger for the lease of the Grand was completed at Cincinnati Saturday afternoon by L. Steinfels, representing the owner.

H. E. Schmidt, Mr. Liger takes the hostelry January 1, when the old lease of C. H. Neal expires. Mr. Neal goes to London where he will take charge of a hotel.

Mr. Schmidt said this morning the "New Grand" will be a modern hotel in every respect. Among the improvements contemplated are a new main entrance which will take the place of the large window in the lounging room, fronting on Main street. The entire lower floor, virtually, will be tiled. New marble baths and lavatories will replace the old. Other changes will also be made. New furniture will also be installed. The Grand contains 40 bed rooms. Architect E. J. Mountstephan of Dayton, has drawn plans for the changes in the hostelry.

CITY HAS VARIED HISTORY

TRAU, Situated on Small Island in the Adriatic Sea, is Place of Unusual Interest.

TRAU is a little city, on a little island, in the Adriatic sea. Trau is the Greek name for watermelon, which is the shape of the island, but the people claim that the name is a derivation of Tragilion, whence the Greeks came to Trau in 380 B. C. Many fascinating fictions are fixed beliefs in the minds of the natives of the island. They believe a cypress bush was miraculously planted to shelter a statue of the city's patron saint, Giovanni Orsini, and that the same saint's spirit nourishes it. They also believe that the book which the Lion of St. Mark holds was snapped shut when Venice relinquished the island, rather than that the statue was carved that way. The town has less than 20,000 population and fairly breathes a medieval spirit. The houses are built so close together that vehicle traffic is almost impossible, and the streets are so crooked that pedestrans find difficulty getting around. This was because of military necessity at the time the artistic little city was created.

The father of the Dalmatian history, Giovanni Lucio, was born there. King Bela IV fled there after the Tartars overran his country, but continued to Kraglevec when the entrenched city was besieged, although it did not fall. Byzantines, Huns, Franks, Genoese and Venetians fought for Trau, the Saracens looted it. Napoleon took it in 1806, and the Austrians gained it seven years later.

MEXICAN OPALS IN DEMAND

Even With Primitive Methods, Our Southern Neighbors Dig Beautiful Stones From Their Mines.

The Queretaro district is the chief source of supply of Mexican opals. All the mines are owned by Mexicans. No foreign capital is invested. Old-fashioned methods of mining are employed and activity is desultory. If prices are good, work becomes feverish. If prices drop off, few opals are mined.

Most of the best quality stones go to Mexico City. Dealers there market them in other countries. The poorer grades are sold in little shops throughout Mexico or are peddled to tourists at railway stations. Thousands of these cheap opals are sold in towns along the border in the United States. They can be bought for from 30 cents up.

It is this cheap grade of stones that has given Mexican opals a poor reputation among jewelry buyers. The fact is, a fine Mexican opal is a beautiful gem. It differs from Australian opals in that the latter are usually opaque to transmit light, whereas Mexican opals are usually clear. To bring out the soft play of colors in a Mexican stone, artificial backs are often used in setting the gems. Many are backed with their own genuine matrix. The better class of Mexican opals is not so expensive as the Australian or those imported from the famous mines of Australia, but they are far from cheap.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. Those little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr.
Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do not cause after effects. They don't injure the soft, like strong liquids or calomel.
They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums, so do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lazy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "buck up" the spirits. 10c and 25c.

LAND FAMOUS FOR CASTLES

Medieval Structures of All Kinds and Descriptions Can Be Found in the Tyrol.

The chief stock in trade of the Tyrol is its collection of castles. It has over 500 specimens, all of which at one time or another belonged to the best families. All stages of decrepitude and picturesque decay are preserved. Few travelers with a fondness for castles leave the Tyrol without buying or planning to buy, a small or very rickety one at a bargain.

Some of the best castles in the Tyrol have hung dizzily on the edge of high precipices for hundreds of years.
Occasionally a stone slips out of place and dislocates some one's neck. Otherwise, they are guaranteed to be perfectly safe for visitors, though a trifle inaccessible. You may have to climb a tree and swing off or shin up a rope in order to reach the castle, but if you do manage to land safely you are rewarded by the feeling that you are one of the chosen few who have viewed that particular medieval residence.

It is not absolutely necessary to risk a broken neck in order to view a Tyrolese castle. Many of the 500 samples are conveniently located on firm ground and are satisfactorily romantic

Some of the castles are disappointing, notably those which are missing when you locate them. They are in the guide book, of course, but either time has treated the edifice less gently than it has the guide book, or else a vivid imagination is taken for granted.
Whatever the explanation, a number of the "castles" are piles of pulverized rock, and once in a while even the rocky remains seem to have been carried away.

On the whole, however, the ruins are fascinating. Even if owned by an American millionaire and patched up by him into a conglomeration of the ancient and modern, the Tyrolese castle manages to retain its stately Tyrolese character.

OCCUPATION WITHOUT A NAME

Dictionary Has No Word to Describe
Just What Lawyer's Work Can.
Be Called.

One thing about his profession that probably not even a lawyer can explain is the singular neglect which the lawyer's trade suffers at the hands of the dictionary. Apparently the act of performing the professional duties of a lawyer has never been considered sufficiently worthy to deserve a name of its own, for there isn't any polite name for it in the English language. No other learned profession has been so slighted.

What a minister does when he attends to business is called ministering.
What a doctor does when he prescribes a pill is called doctoring. The engineer goes in for engineering and the soldier for soldiering, and even the newest of all professional men engages in what we are pleased to call proteering. Not so the lawyer. Par-ticipally, he is not there. Lawyering?
There's no such word. Whatever his business is, the dictionary evidently will have nothing to do with it—which, if not actually an indictment, is at least evidence strongly circumstantial.—New York Times.

11 HENS IDLE; NOW LA 221 EGGS A MONT

Mrs. Young Almost Gave Up Raising Chickens. Then She Tried this Plan

"When I accepted your offer to try Don Sung, I had been getting 2 eggs every other day. Then, in a month, using 50 cents worth of Sung, my 11 hens laid 224 eggs. I most gave up raising chickens, but I have decided to raise as many as I can."—Mrs. F. C. Young, Bellefonte.

Feathers are too expensive to waste on idle hens. You can easily start hens laying and keep them laying, in coldest winter. To prove it, all need do is accept our offer, as Mrs.
Young did.

Give your hens Don Sung and we guarantee that it pays for itself. If you find that it pays for itself, we'll give you a good profit besides, tell us your money will be promptly refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) works directly on the egg-laying gangs, and is also a splendid tonic.

It is easily digested in the feed, improves the hens' health, makes them more active and weather, and starts them laying.

Try Don Sung for 30 days and if it doesn't get you the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather, your money will be refunded by return mail.

Get Don Sung from your druggist or postman, ready dealer or send 50 cents for a package by mail prepaid. Burrell-

POLICE SEARCH FOR SLAYER OF PATROLMAN

Cleveland, O., Dec. 1.—Following a house to house search in which the entire city detective force participated in the neighborhood of East 22nd street, just south of Prospect, police early today announced that they had under arrest four men, one of whom shortly after midnight shot and killed Police Sergeant Wm. C. Isaac.

The shooting occurred in an Euclid avenue cafe. About midnight police were notified four gunmen were at the place. Accompanied by a patrolman, the police sergeant entered the cafe and ordered the four men to throw up their hands. Two shots were fired, one of them passing through the officer's abdomen. He died shortly afterward at a hospital. The four men fled in an automobile, and through it they were traced.

GERMANY WANTS
ASSURANCE FIRST

London, Nov. 29.—Baron Von Lersner, head of the German peace delegation, has sent a letter to the allies saying that the German national assembly has agreed that Germany cannot ratify the treaty unless assured of the repartition of German war prisoners and guaranteed against further allied demands, said a wireless press dispatch from Berlin today quoting the Deutache Algemeine Zeitung.

LAND OF GORGEOUS COSTUMES

Peasants of Northern Dalmatia Display Their Wealth in the Finery of Their Garb.

There is one spot of the modern world where the men dress as gorgeously as the women. Among the Morlacchi, or peasants of northern Dalmatia, the women are gay enough to look at, but their men folk are gayer. Like peasant garb the world over, the costumes have remained the same from year to year, and will doubtless continue unchanged for years to come. The women wear short skirts, almost hidden under aprons embroidered in bright colors, with loose white waists and white linen kerchiefs serving as headgear for the older women, and little red caps for the girls. Large, quaint earrings are common, and so are necklaces and rings to match, and on her arm the Morlacchi woman is likely to carry a great bag of the same material as her apron for the transportation of miscellaneous packages and a permanent equipment of knitting. The men are more gorgeous, going about their business in large, dark-blue knee breeches, encircled with a many-colored sash, and topped by coat and waistcoat often of bright red; and the buttons of these garments command especial attention, for they are large and shining and chains dangle from them. A Morlacchi, it is said, carries his wealth on the front of his waistcoat, which is often decorated with knobs and bars of solid silver. It may even happen that a man is rich enough to have these ornaments in solid gold, and then truly is he widely admired. On his head he wears a red cap, like the caps worn by the girls; and an interesting point to the student of Dalmatian costume is that the cap gets smaller and smaller as one moves southward.

STUDY OF FEET INTERESTING

No Two Pairs of Them Alike, and All
Tell a Story to the Observant Individual.

In the subway and on the surface cars—in fact, in every sort of public conveyance—I have always found it interesting to while away the time spent in transit by making a study of feet. Large feet, small feet, narrow feet and broad feet have characteristics all their own, and no two pairs of them are alike. The long, slender, graceful foot of the woman of fashion, she with the rather lavish taste, betokened in the extreme heel and narrow, buckled vamp; the smartly shod foot of the executive business woman, with mahogany calf and military heel; the neat but worn black leather shoe of the shop worker, and the ultra faddish down-at-the-heel, high-cut kid shoe of the stenographer or factory girl. All of them tell a story. The girl who cares about getting ahead, and the boy who is ambitious, watch out that your feet do not betray you. Very often I have seen a well-groomed business girl whose appearance was entirely spoiled by a muddy or run-down pair of shoes, and I always judge her accordingly. An employer, hiring an office boy or a clerk, will invariably base his decision on the get up of his applicant. Unshined shoes and torn stockings may cause you to lose that opportunity for which you have always been looking.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Men Make the Nation.
"A nation might be rich in minerals and soil, in natural beauties, in its commerce, but unless it is rich in men, an essential ingredient of national wealth is missing. Great men in a nation are its fertilizing qualities. The world without them would be either a desert or a morass."—Premier David Lloyd George.

Avoid crowds if you want to Keep your hands clean, drink meals a day including a good breakfast.

People who have catarrh or frequent colds invite influenza, declares a prominent Kentucky druggist.

The membrane of the throat and nose is raw, sore and tender and makes a lovely abiding place for germs to thrive and multiply.

He advises an inexpensive home made remedy that will bring relief in less than a day and will stop all discharge and sooth and heal the inflamed membrane in a few days.

Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Pour three-quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcine into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled.

Gargle the throat as directed and snuff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat clean and health-

Nearly all druggists dispense Mentholized Arcine in vials containing exactly three-quarters of an ounce, which is all you need to make a pint of this healthful medicine.

The Trysting Place

By CECILLE LANGDON

(Copyright, 1919, by the Western Newspaper Union.)

It was an odd trysting place, but it had been favorite haunt for Ransom Wylie even before he met Edna Deane. After the railroad had been built touching Orville, the town where both lived, and the telegraph line had paralleled, one towering pole fronted the lane that led to the home of the Deanes, which became a sort of waiting station for Ransom. Edna would join him there and they would stroll along the river bank or visit mutual young friends in the neighborhood.

A grassy rise curved gracefully about the deeply imbedded pole and some wild bushes encircled it.

It got to be so that Ransom was usually on the spot ahead of Edna. She came upon him one evening and learned the reason why, and her face grew thoughtful and serious, as was the dreamy expression of his eyes, far away and intense. On the occasion Edna found him with his ear close to the smooth surface of the pole.

"Resting, Ransom?" she intimated softly, as she sank to his side.

"Why, no," he answered, flushing slightly and acting like one startled from a deep reverie. "I was listening, Edna. Have you ever done so?" and his eyes brightened magically. "I come here very often, alone. Just think of it! All those wires overhead there passes every hour the story of the great world--the business story; vast secrets in cipher, poor little trembling tales of longing, and broken hearts, happiness, misery, grief, sorrow, the chronicle of birth, deaths, good fortune and wretchedness. It overpowers me when I try to comprehend it all. And when there is a storm coming, the wires moan and seem freighted with tones that awe you. Oh, Edna! sometimes, when the hum and drone is soft and gentle, I can almost hear the tender words passing between sweethearts. I wonder, oh! I wonder."

"You wonder what, Ransom?" asked Edna, weirdly impressed with the look in his eyes.

"Of how some day, after I have gone into the busy, bustling life of the city, the message I send to you of triumph, of wealth, and always of love, will fill your soul with the glory of our great happiness."

"Don't, Ransom!" pleaded Edna, as if the suggestion of parting wrenches her heart cruelly. "Oh, must it be that you will go away and we can meet here no more?" and she clung to his arm shelteringly, but shuddered, and there was the echo of a half suppressed sob.

Ransom caressed and comforted the girl he so loved, painting a fair picture of the prospects that were opening up to him. Edna was thoroughly unselfish and sacrificing, and she felt that she had no right to hold him back from testing his business ability.

An old man of sixty had succeeded the former telegraph operator at Orville and passing the cherished trysting place on his way to his work had noticed Edna. It came about that they grew into quite intimate acquaintanceship, and occasionally Edna would stop for a few minutes at the little depot. It pleased her to be in close touch with one who could tell her all about the great city to which she was a stranger, which held her heart's dearest treasure.

One evening Edna dropped into the depot and was conversing with the operator, when the latter bent his ear quickly towards the clicking instrument. It had become his wont when Edna was there to epitomize any important happening told over the wires.

"Big fire in the city," he taunted.

"Plant of Driscoll & Co. totally destroyed," and Edna's cheek blanched, for that was the name of the house with which Ransom was connected. "Several lives lost, John Driscoll, his secretary, and his wife."

"Oh, Miss Deane!" shouted the operator, "there's a later wire. Man and secretary escaped."

It was the next day that Ransom Wylie put in an appearance. Meantime the details of the fire were generally known. A rescuing ladder had, indeed, caught fire, and its lower half had fallen to the ground. Its upper half Ransom had drawn up to the roof, gained that of an adjoining building and he and his employer had gained safety.

The operator ran to the water-pail, but it was empty. He seized it and started for the well. When he returned Edna was gone. He was a slow thinking man, but it suddenly occurred to him that the business house named in the telegram might be the one where his fiance was employed. His face brightened as he caught a later wire.

"Where can she have gone? I must find her," he soliloquized excitedly, and an instinctive impulse caused him to hasten to the trysting place telegraph pole.

It was the next day that Ransom Wylie resumed his love vows with Edna Deane, telling her that his signal service in behalf of his grateful employer had led to advancement and a reward that would enable them soon to become man and wife.

JAP GAMES HAVE PURPOSE

Children's Pastimes in That Country Are Played With the Idea of Strengthening Character.

For centuries before America was discovered, Japanese children were playing games upon which our boys and girls considered they have a monopoly, and which are regarded as strictly modern. As a matter of fact, most of our pastimes and games have come to us from foreign lands, though they have been modified to suit our needs, and perhaps renamed.

"Pussy wants a corner" and "blindman's buff" are as old as Japan itself.

As played across seas, however, these games are far superior to ours. Puss, for instance, is represented as an "Oni," or devil, the corners of the room the four safe harbors of truth with certain shelter from all harm.

In "blindman's buff," the children wear queer little costumes made of blue and white cotton crepe, with painted eyes and queer stuffed beaks resembling birds' for noses. They look like weird little gnomes rather than children, as they dash about in a frantic endeavor to catch their victims.

A ghostly game particularly enjoyed by heroic boys requires the same costumes. Some of them plant flags in different parts of the cemetery during the day, under a lonely tree or by a hill, alleged to be haunted. At night they meet for their game of "soul examination," telling stories about ghosts, goblins and oni. At the conclusion of each tale when their imaginations are so wrought up that they are in terror, they go up the hill one at a time and bring back the flags planted there, until all are brought in. Thus do they discourage fear and foster courage, the trait of character that they most covet.

TO ALLAY PAIN OF STINGS

Use of Ammonia to Be Avoided in the Case of an Attack by an Irate Wasp.

Ammonia promptly applied when a bee stings you prevents serious consequences and allays pain. It has generally been supposed that this was true also of wasp stings; but Edward R. Speyer, an Oxford university specialist, points out in a letter to the London Times that the application of ammonia or any other alkali to a wasp sting makes it worse.

The reason is that the poison of a bee's sting is acid; that of a wasp's sting is alkaline. Hence alkalies, like ammonia, neutralize the acid of the bee's sting, but aggravate the toxic effects of the wasp's alkaline sting.

The best thing to apply to a wasp's sting is vinegar, being the nearest acid in domestic service. Onion juice, lemon juice, or any other handy acid will do as well.

The Lancet says these facts ought to be widely known, "for not uncommonly the sting proves to be not a simple puncture but the beginning of a toxic process sometimes fatal. A wasp sting on the moist mucosa, as in the mouth, invariably leads to serious inflammation, with most distressing results. If the simple gargling or washing of the attacked spot with an acid fluid in such a case keeps down the swelling there may well be saved."

Youth's Beautiful Love.

The love of youth is always full of hope. It is quite free from doubts and fears. The young man and girl have unbounded faith in love because they have had no experience of the heart's instability. Neither women nor men can love quite so wholeheartedly and truly once their faith has been shaken. For this reason the palm of true loving goes to youth, writes a correspondent in the New Orleans Picayune. Older folks sometimes love with more passion, but they are also more subtle. They are much richer in exquisite expression of their affection, but this ability to "talk love" only comes from practice, and is no proof of sincerity.
